An AWARD given describes it best. “Jelly Beans the Cheetah and Hope” won in the category: Children’s “Globally Mindful.” The books, outreach and other products encourage and empower youth to engage in positive action. The books are intended to “empower youth with empathy to spring into compassionate action in their schools, families, communities and in service for our world!”

SissyMarySue offers youth positive characters with life affirming qualities. These characters model empathy, the concepts of shared humanity and connection to all, in books, teaching the value of our oneness. She has Global Partnerships with: H2O For Life, Cheetah Conservation Fund and now International Elephant Foundation.

“I am humbled the messages have resonated with people from the time “Jelly Beans the Cheetah and Hope” first launched in 2014, as well as, at the presentations, readings and the nineteen Barnes & Noble signings (many SOLD OUT).” I was touched that Autistic kids and people of all ages reacted positively to my first book!”
